Astronomy Scholarships Announced

Phoenix: The Phoenix Astronomical Society (PAS) announced they are again making available two scholarships for students at Paradise Valley Community College. Stu Brackney, President of PAS stated, "We are proud to announce that we will be providing two scholarships, one thousand dollars each, to students studying astronomy or a related field."

Mr. Brackney noted that his organization has been making these scholarships available for the past few years. PAS receives donated telescopes, which they then sell to their members, using the proceeds for these scholarships.

Students at Paradise Valley Community College can obtain more information by using this internet link: <https://forms.gle/D6Jk8yDNnQyBieTt7>

PAS is a local astronomy organization established in 1948 that provides its members and the community information on astronomy through classroom lectures at PVCC, outdoor star gazing events and its monthly newsletter.
